MAY 18, 2024

Greetings, Brothers and Sisters in Christ!

Fr. Jorge Castro returns to the parish on May 19, 2025. I will return to my usual pastoral duties at the Tribunal in Bloomfield. It was indeed a wonderful, faith-filled experience being with you during Lent, Holy Week, and the Triduum. Additionally, Pope Leo XIV was elected, wonderful news indeed for the universal church, the USA, and Peru.

At this time, I would like to thank each one of you for your great kindness, hospitality, and the great faith you have shown. Keep up the good spirit so that many people will see the light shining from St. Junipero Serra Parish in South Windsor, and in turn be drawn to it. Many thanks, and God Bless all of you.

Fr. George

GOSPEL MEDITATION - ENCOURAGE DEEPER UNDERSTANDING OF SCRIPTURE
May 18, 2025| 5th Sunday of Easter | John 13:31-35

I've always found it amazing that Jesus never says to his disciples
the straightforward and bumper stickery words
"I love you" or "I will always love you" (a la Dolly Parton's song).
Why doesn't Jesus say,
"I love you"?

Well, actually he does,
but in particular ways.

He says, "As the Father loves me, so I love you" (John 15:9) thereby rooting his love for us in the space of the Holy Trinity. This week he commands, "Love another as I have loved you" (John 13:34). He presents his love for us as a completed action which continues into the present moment. How has he loved us? By becoming one of us, one with us, and finally giving his life for us in his suffering on the cross. We weren't there when he did that, but neither were his Apostles (except one). Still, that action is his great "I love you" to us.

His love is also hedged in a command: "Love one another." So how can we practically follow it? The great St. John XXIII wrote in his diary that each day he followed this rule: "Only for today, I will do one good deed and not tell anyone about it." The hidden nature of a good deed is a sign that it is truly loving. This week, take on St. John XXIII's practical method of following Jesus' great commandment of love. It's a splendid way to say, "I love you."

A Heartfelt Thank you for the generous donation of diapers and wipes from Hope Pregnancy Center

Dear Parishioners of St. Junipero Serra Parish,

This Easter, as we celebrate the resurrection of our Savior, we are filled with gratitude—for the empty tomb, for new life, and for you.

Because of your faithful support, women walking through fear and uncertainty are now encountering hope, compassion, and the powerful truth that life is a gift. You've helped us be the hands and feet of Jesus, offering not just services—but love, prayer, and the promise of new beginnings.

As Jesus conquered the grave, we see His resurrection power at work in every story of a mom choosing life, every baby born, and every heart touched by His grace through this ministry.

Thank you for standing with us, for believing in life, and for sowing into the Kingdom in such a tangible way.

May your Easter be filled with peace, joy, and the reminder that with Christ, hope is never lost.

With grateful hearts,
The Board of Directors and Staff
at Hope Pregnancy Center

BALANCING FAITH AND SCHOOL LIFE

One of our young parishioners reached out with questions for an article she was writing for her school newspaper. She wanted advice on balancing her faith with her school life from a priestly perspective. Below are answers from our Department of Faith Formation in collaboration with our Temporary Administrator, Father Mukuka, to her poignant and important questions that would benefit all children today on their academic journey.

1) What do you think Christian teachers can do to integrate their faith into their classrooms, especially in secular settings?

I think Christian teachers can integrate their faith by always holding the love of God and of neighbor in their hearts while they teach. Just as Jesus commanded us to do. Witnessing who they are and what they believe in. Sometimes sharing stories of leaders in the world who have accentuated heroic virtue, such as Mother Teresa or have written Catholic books - such as Lord of the Rings author Tolkien who was a practicing Catholic or the Chronicles of Narnia author C.S. Lewis - a faithful Christian! Teachers can teach philosophy quoting Catholic philosophers such as Chesterton, Catholic Scientists for Science such as Pasteur who discovered the principles of pasteurization or Alois Alzheimer who was the first to document dementia, and Galileo Galilei's contribution to modern astronomy.

2) What advice do you give to Christian students who are struggling to maintain their faith while attending school?

It is okay to show that you believe in God. I would advise every Christian student to begin the day with a morning prayer. I would also advise that if they know of other Christian students to try to meet sometimes either in youth groups or just friendly ways to share your faith and to offer moral support. I would also suggest that they connect with their Christian churches by attending church services and listening to their pastors and teachers at church as well.

3) What are the most common struggles you see among Christian students trying to live out their faith in schools?

Many things being taught in public schools today can be contrary to the teachings of the church and God's beautiful plan for humanity. It is important to know that if it does not sound compatible with your faith, even if a teacher is teaching it, to investigate it and to talk to your parents, or fellow Christian friends, or your priest. Not knowing the real teachings of the church can be an issue because the students are constantly presented with so many versions of the truth.

4) How can the church adapt its approach to better support Christian students and educators in today's society?

The church is always trying to develop new ways of fellowship and prayer to unite its people and put them in front of Jesus, for us Catholic Christians, we encounter Jesus daily in the Blessed Sacrament. Additionally, students who are Catholic, should ask their parents to help them receive all the sacraments of initiation according to their age. We must also pray for vocations so that we have more priests to shepherd the people. And also, for more vocations for others to become nuns and brothers, by joining religious life. We must encourage the people to be bold in their faith and not to hide their Christianity.

5) What can be done to ensure that the Christian faith remains a relevant and positive influence in the lives of young people?

Since we are in the Easter Season now, as a church we must pray for the Holy spirit to strengthen and support our young people, as we especially approach the Solemnity of Pentecost soon. Read about the saints and martyrs who suffered and even lost their lives sometimes in order to stand with Christ. Follow the news on the recent passing of the Pope Francis and the election of Pope Leo.

Talk to your guardian angel, they are there to help you. The first amendment of our Constitution states:
Amendment I

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

You are never prohibited in this free country from expressing your faith and even if it would come to be in this country that they try to forbid you, they can never forbid you from loving and being with Jesus in your heart.
